Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my interest in working for your company as a backend engineer. I bring technical depth and strategic insight from my more than ten years of full stack development experience, leadership in EU-funded R&D projects, and solid academic background.

Microservices architecture, scalable cloud-native apps, and Python development are my areas of expertise. I oversaw a group at Project Agora that produced reliable Ad-Tech solutions while maximising efficiency and integrating with various systems. My prior participation in IoT and cybersecurity initiatives under Horizon 2020 further demonstrates my capacity for innovation and adaptation in challenging, high-impact settings.

I have demonstrated a dedication to both academic rigor and practical excellence by contributing as a published author and peer reviewer in addition to my hands-on engineering experience. I am currently polishing my skills in fog and edge computing by working towards a Ph.D. in computer science.

The chance to be a part of an innovative team, where engineering excellence and significant impact meet, excites me. I would appreciate the opportunity to talk about how my background can support your objectives.

I appreciate you taking a look at my application.

Sincerely,

Yannis Nikoloudakis
